

Departament de Psicologia Social i Quantitativa, Secció Social

Project "Social and Labor Adaptation of Syrian Refugees in Europe and Canada: A Multidisciplinary and Cross-Cultural Project"

Màster de Mediació de Conflictes, de Intervenció Psicosocial i intervenció Ambiental i Gestió
Ambiental, persona i societat

Conferencia-debat amb Dra. Saba Safdar*

"How to Integrate Newcomers Successfully? An Examination of Multiculturalism Policy"

Data: 16 de Maig de 2019

Hora: 16:30 h.

Lloc: Sala de Juntes (Facultat de Psicologia)

Dr. Saba Safdar research interests lies broadly within the area of cross-cultural psychology. To date, her work has primarily examined a wide range of factors that could help to understand adaptation processes of immigrants and international students, including studying resilience, acculturation strategies, and ethnic and national identity. An essential characteristic of her research activities is that studies are conducted across cultures or different ethnic groups. She published several books and numerous articles about acculturation e.g., Safdar, S. & van de Vijver, F. (2019). The application of acculturation research (3-22; Chapter 1). In K. O'Doherty & D. Hodgetts (Editors). Handbook of Applied Social Psychology. London, U.K. Sage Publication Ltd.,; Berger, R., Safdar, S., Spieß, E., Bekk, M. & Font, A. (2018). Acculturation of Erasmus Students: Using the Multidimensional Individual Difference Acculturation Model Framework, International Journal of Psychology, 1-11. DOI: 10.1002/ijop.12526; Scott, C. & Safdar, S. (2017). Threat and Prejudice against Syrian Refugees in Canada: Assessing the Moderating Effects of Multiculturalism, Interculturalism, and Assimilation. International Journal of Intercultural Relation, 60, 28-39; Safdar, S., Struthers, W., & van Oudenhoven, J. P. (2009). Acculturation of Iranians in the United States, the United Kingdom, and the Netherlands. Journal of Cross-Cultural Psychology, 40(3), 468-491. <https://doi.org/10.1177/0022022108330990>

INFORMACIÓ I INSCRIPCIONS:

Es recomana confirmar l'assistència enviant un missatge a momed@ub.edu (aforament limitat)