

Job Opportunity - Ref: AKT2021

The Company

We are a vibrant biotechnology company specialized in skin care technology. Our scientific and creative team develop, market and deliver novel active ingredients for the cosmetics industry.

The Opportunity

Join our marketing and sales team to support our distribution network and grow our customer base.

The Candidate

You have a life sciences degree (or are finishing in 2021) and excellent English skills – both written and spoken. You love to communicate and explain engaging stories. You are a creative person and have a customer service mind-set.

You are interested in:

- Learning about the personal care industry
- Developing your communication and customer engagement skills
- Building partnerships with people around the world
- Travel frequently and enjoy unique and diverse cultures
- Contributing to the development of new and exciting skin care brands (your customer products)

Next Steps

Apply by sending your CV and a brief application letter to explain why you are the best candidate to join our team. Include (or send a link to) a video explaining an engaging story or pitching a product or service (1 min).

Please include the Ref: AKT2021 in the subject of your message.